Choose Your Road
Come, choose your road and away,
my lad,
Come, choose your road and away,
Well out of the town by the road's

Shultz Hostess to Sewing Party
Mrs. W. B. Shultz was hostess yesterday afternoon at her home to the members of her sewing club. About 30 guests were present. Mrs. Frank Stopinski and Mrs. Walter Hoe won prizes in the contests which were the feature of the afternoon.

Woman's Bible Class Meets
The Woman's Bible Class of the M. E. Church, South, will hold its regular meeting at Keweenaw Hall at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. Mrs. George Eldemore, Mrs. Dan Gibson and Mrs. A. B. Pippin will be hostesses.

Woman's Auxiliary Meeting Monday
The Woman's Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian Church held its regular monthly meeting at the church Monday afternoon. The program was in charge of the Business Woman's Circle.

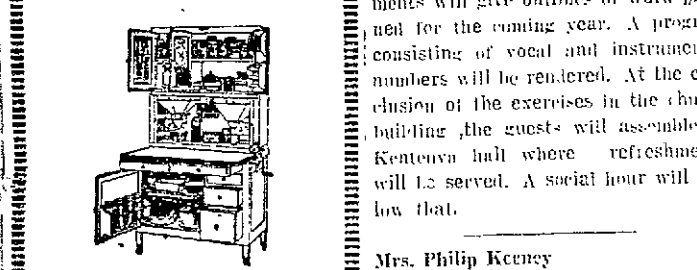

Week-end Guests
Mrs. M. S. Callison has as her week-end guests her sister, Mrs. H. B. Clay, her cousin, Miss Mary Riley, and Jimmie French, all of Morristown. They came for the Kiwanis convention and stayed over for the week-end with Mrs. Callison.

Reception for Rev. and Mrs. McClure
A reception for the Rev. and Mrs. W. K. McClure and family will be given at the M. E. Church South at 8 o'clock tonight. This is the annual reception for the new pastor and his family and all members and friends of the church are cordially invited. Heads of the various church departments will give outlines of work planned for the coming year. A program consisting of vocal and instrumental numbers will be rendered. At the conclusion of the exercises in the church building, the guests will assemble at Keweenaw hall where refreshments will be served. A social hour will follow that.

Mrs. Philip Keeney Entertains
The Sunday Chattanooga News carries an account of a party given last Thursday evening by Mrs. Philip Keeney for Miss Helen Brown whose marriage to Leslie N. Webb occurs today. The home was attractively decorated in a color motif of gold and white. A bridal contest and music were enjoyed during the early part of the afternoon. The guest of honor was presented with a large white parasol, the handle of which was tied with a large bow of gold tulle. On being opened, the parasol was found to contain a shower of dainty handkerchiefs, each held with a streamer of baby ribbon.

Mrs. W. B. Fugate Hostess Yesterday

Mrs. W. B. Fugate entertained yesterday afternoon at her home on Chester avenue. The house was prettily decorated with artistic arrangements of fall flowers, including the cosmos, dahlias and zinnias. Two interesting guessing contests, a college name contest and a flower contest, were held. Mrs. F. D. Hart, Jr., won the first and Mrs. Sam Anderson the second. Mrs. A. M. Carr, Mrs. John Hayes and Mrs. Geo. Vent assisted the hostess in serving a salad course.

The invited guests were: Mesdames, F. R. Whalin, C. W. Bailey, Wilbur Hollingsworth, W. R. Pool, M. S. Callison, Frances Callison, Jacob Shultz, Edith E. Verran, R. L. Muldoon, T. U. SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

In choosing a squash one runs the about the same risk as in choosing a melon for there is no accurate way of determining whether the squash is dry and mealy or watery and stringy. However, it's a "safer bet" if the shell of the squash be very hard and the vegetable heavy in proportion to its size. A winter squash often has such a hard shell that it takes the hammer to break it.

The yellow summer squash or vegetable marrow as they are called in England are delicious cut in slices and fried like croquettes, then sprinkled with grated cheese and browned in the oven. But the summer squash will not keep as the winter squash will. Winter squash can be kept in a perfectly dry cool place for several weeks.

Squash is usually better baked than boiled. If there is any reason to believe that it is watery, bake. No extra water is added to increase the natural amount and the squash will bake as tender as it will boil (unless, of course, it is overcooked).

If pumpkins are scarce try a squash pie. Squash and squash are a delicious change and squash croquettes or scalloped squash make a delicious entrée.

Squash Pie
One cup cooked and sifted squash, 1-2 cup sugar, 1-3-4 cups milk, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 egg, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-2 teaspoon ginger, 1 teaspoon lemon juice 1-2 teaspoon cinnamon.

Mix sugar, salt, spices and lemon juice with squash. Add eggs slightly beaten. Stir milk in slowly, mixing until the mixture is smooth. Pour into a pie pan lined with rich pastry and put into a hot oven. After the first five minutes reduce heat and bake in a slow oven until custard is firm to the touch. The oven should be not at first to bake the crust before it has had a chance to become soaked with the custard.

Squash Custards
Two cups cooked and sifted squash, 2 eggs, 1 cup brown sugar, 1-2 cup raisins, 1 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon grated orange rind, 1 cup rich milk, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon nutmeg, 1-2 teaspoon ginger.

Mix sugar, salt, spices and orange rind. Stir in raisins. Add yolks of eggs beaten until thick and lemon colored. Add milk, stirring until perfect.

Indiana Lady Says She Was Run-Down, Suffered With Her Back, Took Cardui, and Got Well.

Richmond, Ind.—"I thought I would write a line or so, to say that I owe my good health and strength to Cardui," says a letter from Mrs. Cora Courtney, 31 Railroad Street, this city.

"I was all run-down until my family thought they would lose me," writes Mrs. Courtney. "My husband coaxed me to take Cardui. So, to please him, I did, and will say I do not regret it, for I am able to do all my work and do my shopping."

"I have five children, four in school, my husband and a boarder to do for, and I do all my own work for all of us, and find time to play. We all praise Cardui. Every sick and run-down woman should take this wonderful medicine."

"I suffered with my back; a very weak feeling in my limbs."

"I felt hardly able to drag; just tired—so tired all the time."

"It was an effort for me to do anything, but Cardui helped me so I felt like a different woman."

If you are in a run-down physical condition, suffering as this Indiana lady says she did, give Cardui a fair trial. It should help you. Take Cardui.

Negro Girl Hurt in Auto Collision
A ten-year old colored girl was reported injured in an automobile collision Sunday night, off the Pipeville road. A car, driven by Sam Dicks of Waco, collided with the child while she was crossing the road. The girl was painfully though not seriously cut on the head. Neither car was badly damaged.

A THOUGHT

How long hath ye between two opinions? If the Lord be God, follow him; but if Baal, then follow him.—1 Kings 18:21.

There is nothing more pitiable in the world than an irresolute man, oscillating between two feelings, who could willingly nite the two, and who does not perceive that nothing can unite them.—Goethe.

PATRONIZE THE FOOTBALL GAMES

This is the first year that athletics in the public schools have been so emphasized that a special athletic coach has been in charge and a special appropriation from a civic fund has been made for their furtherance, and it is with pride that we notice the way the students for whom this is intended are responding to these advantages.

However, athletics is a matter which we cannot make appropriations for and then go off and let it develop itself. Athletics, and football, the particular form in which it manifests itself, is more than a machine of the boys who make it up. It takes training and coaching and expert technique to make up a good team, it is true. But it also takes vim and enthusiasm and spirit, and belief in one's own ability. Undoubtedly, more football games have been won on nerve than on superior technique.

And the one way to develop this nerve and self-confidence in the boys who make up the football team is to show them that the town believes in them and is behind them in every practice and in every game. Go out in the afternoon and see them practice, encouraging them when they are doing well and pointing out where you think your weaknesses are.

Above all things, go to their games. Last Saturday, the first game of the local boys, there were as many Pineville as Middlesboro people on the sidelines. Don't allow this to happen again. Almost every one can get off for a Saturday afternoon and the moral help to the team will certainly be worth it.

Middlesboro has never had a winning football team. Let every Middlesboro person who is interested in athletics and in boys turn out and help them make this team a winner.

PEOPLE LIKE FLATTERY

Two-fifths of the hairdressers who "doll up" the heads of American women, are men. It'll be just a matter of time until men will monopolize all the jobs in this line of work. So predicts A. J. Auerbach, Salt Lake City hairdresser.

He says: "A man can dress two heads to a woman's one, and do it better."

Auerbach advances the unique theory that in a few years the stores that cater to women will employ only men clerks, and the women clerks will shift to men's clothing stores.

"The idea," he explains, "is that a man knows best what looks good on a woman, and vice versa."

The increasing tendency, of having good-looking girls behind the counter to wait on men customers, has been noticed by all of us. It's a part of so-called scientific salesmanship.

A pretty girl clerk has the hypnotic power to sell the average man neckties, for instance, that he's never think of buying from a man clerk. Man is very subject to flattery—quick to believe any compliment from the opposite sex.

The difficulty is that when he comes out of his trance he is not apt to return to the place where he bought flattery instead of a really becoming peekle.

As for men eventually monopolizing the sales jobs in stores catering to women, we doubt it. Women, in the matter of clothing, are not as susceptible to flattery from the opposite sex as are men. Maybe they dress to attract men, but we're pretty sure that the average woman would rather get a compliment about her new gown or hat from one woman than several men.

Women, as a matter of fact, respond less to flattery than do men. Vanity, thy name is man.

News from Jack Dempsey: He killed three buffaloes in Utah, but not with his fists.

The rumor that Jack Dempsey has signed to fight the world's series winner is probably untrue.

Nice thing about a world's series is one team can't knock the other out in the second inning.

U. S. Golf Association has barred slotted or punched clubs. Cussed clubs may still be used.

Will play night football at Johns Hopkins, so may call some games on account of darkness.

Lloyd George arrives in America during the world series. He used to be one himself.

Yale claims to have a good football team this year. Last year the Yale lock didn't work.

While teaching less lucrative professions, University of California has barred boxing.

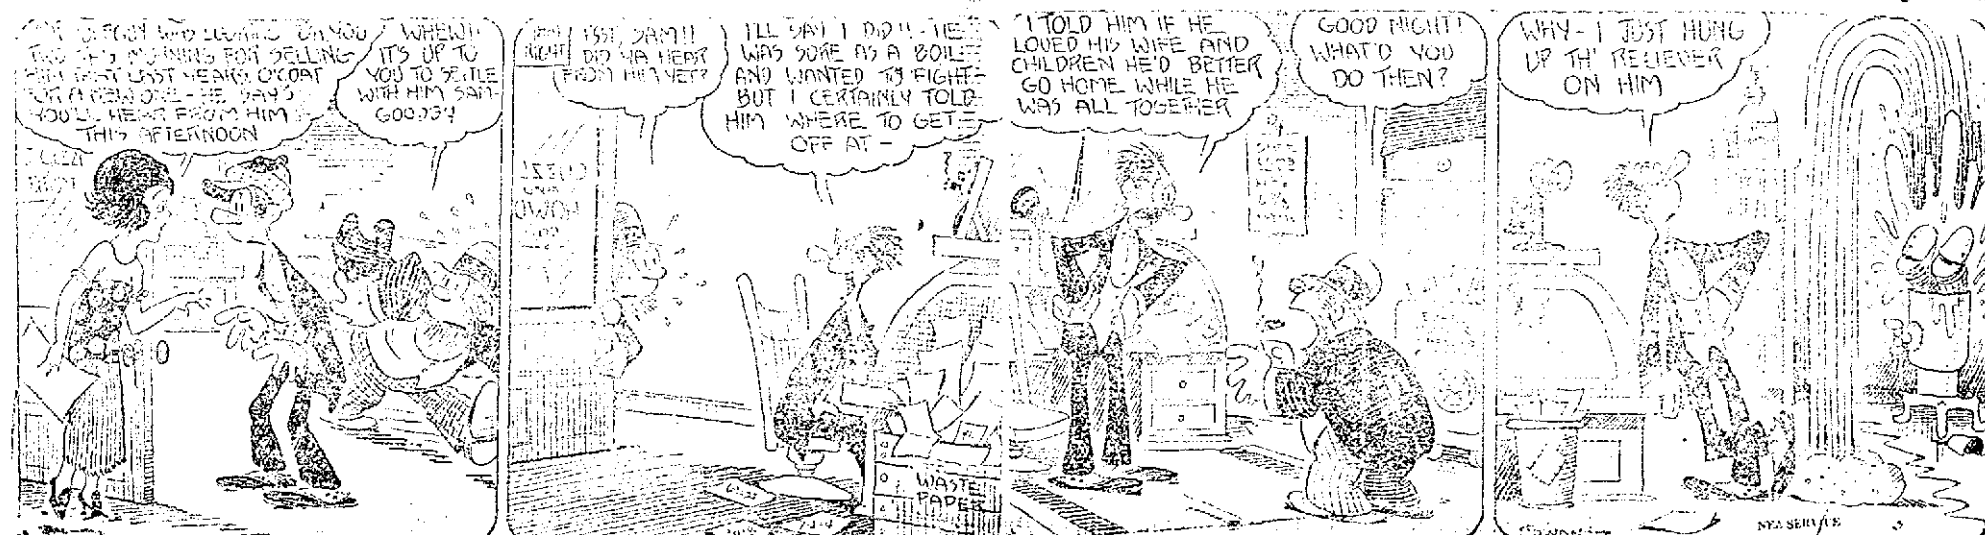

You hear a lot of talk about the new football players, but nothing about new professors.

Princeton University is 177 years old, so imagine the age of some of its college widows!

Why hire men for football coaches? One good-looking girl could make a team ship the universe.

Walter brought us an egg one time that may have been laid by a dinosaur!

BROKER RUNS AWAY WITH ACTRESS

Harry Ellington, the well-known broker, is missing, and with him has gone Edith Chapman. It was learned this morning.

Ellington has been flying high for a number of months and there were many surmises and prophecies as to his finish.

It was well known that Ellington was buying Lackawanna Steel in large blocks for his clients and yesterday when the stock reached the highest point it has in years, a number of his patrons telephoned and telegraphed him to sell.

Last night around the club many men were talking of the killing they had made that day but from recent developments it looked as though Ellington was the only man who made the killing.

Frankly calls at his office only to find the fact that Mr. Ellington was out of town for an indefinite period, and nothing could be done in the way of business until he returned.

Harry Ellington has been a man clear down for a number of years and in fact stood very well in the community as a stock broker. Lately, however, sinister whispers have been going around about him. Although he has been seen at the best restaurants and hotels lately with a minor moving picture actress called Edith Chapman. It is learned that he was also a large holder of stocks that have steadily been dropping for a month.

The more conservative men withdrew their accounts from him months ago but some of his friends have stayed by him and these have lost a good deal of money by their confidence in him.

At this time it cannot be ascertained just who were the losers and how much money has been lost by Ellington's defaulting, but that it will amount to nearly a half million dollars in the most conservative estimate.

Mrs. Ellington could not be seen this morning, whoever answered the telephone saying she was preoccupied by the news.

Mr. John Allen Prescott, who has been one of Ellington's staunchest friends, also could not be reached. Mrs. Prescott informed a reporter over the telephone that her husband had been called to his mother's bedside by her sudden illness.

Mr. Bullock of the Acme Advertising Company, said he was sure, however, that Mr. Prescott had lost nothing in cash as he had made it very plain to all his employees that gambling in stocks was taken in his office. He stated that Mr. Prescott was one of his best valued department managers and he would not think for a moment that he could possibly disregard his wishes.

Adventures of The Twins

By Olive Roberts Barton
NO. 5—MISTER GADARDET GOBBLE

And, oh, but he was proud of himself.

Mister Turkey Gobbler was the fad. Well, it's getting dark now and the R. H. was always making about noon is coming up and Mister Turkey Gobbler, or other, with his wife and four children, were out for a walk. They were walking after him, poor fellow, to sleep on top of the wretched things until they were almost dead. Yes, sir, there they come now.

Even the children had to take notice, because their money was about to leave them at home alone.

Arch, oh, he was proud of himself. As Mister Dodger said to the Twins, the previous at the palace wasn't in it when old Mister Gobbler spent out his tail like a fan, and got red in the face, and swelled himself out like a Fourth of July balloon ready to go up.

"Why does he like to gad about so?" asked Nancy.

"Because he is vain, I suppose, and likes to show himself off," answered Mister Dodger, blowing a cloud of corn-cob smoke out of his corn-cob pipe. Then he pulled his corn-cob "cousins on Twins. That reminds me, but down over his eyes and said, I heard Farmer Smith say to Farmer Henry that if he didn't keep his turkeys out of his backwood field something dreadful was going to happen to them."

"Do they tramp it down?" Nick inquired.

"No, they swallow it down," nodded Mister Dodger. "They said it off with their bills and cut in. I don't blame Farmer Smith for getting cross, tell you why later."

And before long they were sound asleep. "Now then, Nancy," said Mister Dodger, "Have you got a bit of red ribbon about you?"

Nancy had the very thing right in her pocket. "Well, I declared! That's lucky," said the fatherly man. "Can you tie a bow, Nancy? I never was any good at it."

"Yes, indeed!" cried the little girl bravely. "What do you want to know for?"

"Because we're going to tie a large red bow of ribbon right around Mister Gobbler's neck. When he wakes to morning he's going to be the most surprised bird in Scupperly-Moo Land. I'll tell you why later."

"Good night! What'd you do then?"

"I told him if he loved his wife and children he'd better go home while he was all together."

"Why—I just hung up the ribbon on him!"

"Good night! What'd you do then?"

"I told him if he loved his wife and children he'd better go home while he was all together."

Berton Braley's Poem

OCTOBER

There may be months with greater joys.

But I don't know 'em; October cannot but suggest A pleasant poem.

A month that makes your senses glow.

Your heart beat quicker, And not your circulation flow With a tingling motion.

The air is like a fuzzy drink, All sparkling bubbles;

With such a drink how can one dream Of cares or troubles?

Red, yellow, brown, the forests blaze With colors burning.

A thrill along the country ways The leaves are turning.

There is the summer's lazy spell, Its warmth and languor;

Alas! our work we rush pell-mell The city's clangor.

Is music full of vim and pep, A symphony

To which we treat a lively step in jubilation.

The baseball leaves fade from view, And in their places

The purple warriors show anew Their glowing faces.

Recreation close, rathskellers wake To carol action,

Our cigarettes now chop and steak For satisfaction.

Chick and apples grace the board In generous measure,

And apple dumplings now afford, For palates pleasure.

November may be four and drear, With heavens sober.

But now we make the best of cheer With lusty freedom.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SYSTEM

Building a greater Southern

We are handling more traffic this year on the Southern Railway System than ever before.

Not only are our 60,000 employees more efficient, but we have provided for them better tools to work with. In the past two decades, by the continuous investment of new capital, we have increased our productive capacity as follows:

- Average pulling power of locomotives has increased 54%
- Total pulling power of all locomotives has increased 182%
- Average capacity of freight cars has increased 31%
- Total capacity of all freight cars has increased 90%
- Train load was increased 122%

Greater terminal capacity, more road trackage, heavier roadbed and structures, and other betterments that must accompany increased train capacity have been provided in this same period of intensive development of our facilities.

We have constantly before us a program of productive improvements, calling for the outlay of many millions of dollars, and, with faith in the destiny of the South, this program will be prosecuted as rapidly as new capital becomes available.

Southern Railway System last year spent in the South $20,000,000 more than it received from the South.
